Finance Director

Marsden is a leading manufacturer and distributor of specialised medical, industrial, and veterinary products, with a particular focus on weighing scales and surgical equipment. Backed by private equity since 2019, the business serves key clients in the NHS, private medical, and veterinary sectors. It also supplies products to over 40 countries worldwide through a network of distributors.

About the Role

With ambitious plans for growth, Marsden is seeking an experienced and commercially astute Finance Director to support the next phase of its development. The Finance Director (FD) will work closely with a seasoned CFO/COO, focusing on building scalable systems, controls, and communications to drive both organic and acquisitive growth.

This appointment is central to Marsden's ongoing success and requires an ambitious, personable, and commercially minded individual to strengthen the senior team.

Key Responsibilities

The Finance Director will provide a financial narrative, backed by robust processes and controls, and will elevate the role of finance as a business partner, identifying opportunities to enhance operational and sales efficiency while implementing scalable systems that support growth and improve decision-making.

Candidate Profile

The successful candidate will have a hands-on approach to detail coupled with strong commercial acumen and emotional intelligence. You will be able to demonstrate a balance between strategic thinking and day-to-day execution. This will ensure finance plays a pivotal role in the company's expansion.

Career Opportunity

The role is an exciting opportunity to step into a private equity-backed environment, working alongside a CFO mentor with a clear pathway for career progression. Applicants must be fully qualified (ACA, ACCA, CIMA).

Compensation and Benefits

Marsden offers a competitive salary, a generous bonus and benefits package, and significant opportunities for further development.
